ABOUT

Antique albumen print, captures a riverside scene along the Nile, most probably Port Said, features traditional wooden sailing boats, known as feluccas, moored along the riverbank. Some of these boats appear to be loaded with goods, possibly for transport or trade.

Not signed. The print is attributed to Zangaki Brothers, as per the archive records stating the number and title of the composition "Nr 164 Nil a Boulaq Caire." Slight signs of wear and fading. Newly framed.
