ABOUT

A rosewood circular centre table with ivory line inlay to the moulded top, raised on five turned legs united by stretchers. Stamped "Collinson & Lock, London 8249". Preserved in great antique condition.

Important Note: This lot contains elephant ivory material. Please contact us before purchasing for shipping overseas.

Collinson & Lock, established in London in 1870, quickly gained a reputation for producing high-quality artistic furniture. They collaborated with leading designers of the period, including Godwin and Christopher Dresser, and became known for their Anglo-Japanese and Aesthetic style furnishings, often employing fine materials and inventive inlays.
