

cabinet of curiosity

"Mmm... I don't like the look of that."

Michael ffolkes (born Brian Davis)

AED 2000

One of a kind

Delivery:

1 to 5 days within the UAE,
depending on the size of the object
and the location to be delivered to.

International Delivery:

please read all details on our website

Available For Home Viewings:

Schedule a viewing to see this piece
in your home

ABOUT

Ink drawing by Michael ffolkes (Brian Davis), titled "Mmm... I don't like the look of that..." The composition depicts a flooded landscape with houses partially submerged and continuous rainfall. In the foreground, two men sit in a small boat with a cow, rowing through the rising water. A series of serpentine shapes emerge from the flood, and a boat appears in the distance. The title is inscribed beneath the image. Newly framed under museum glass.

Michael ffolkes, born Brian Davis (British, 1925–1988), was a cartoonist and illustrator active in post-war British print media. After service in the Royal Navy during the Second World War, he studied at St Martin's School of Art. He began contributing to Punch in the early 1950s and went on to publish work in The New Yorker, The Spectator, Private Eye, and several national newspapers. Ffolkes also illustrated books and worked as a storyboard artist for television and film productions. His career encompassed editorial cartooning, humorous illustration, and visual commentary across mid- to late-20th-century British publications.

ITEM DETAILS

Reference: #PH065

CREATOR

PERIOD / DATE

PLACE OF ORIGIN

+971-50-111-1770 - www.cabinetofcuriosity.me - info@cabinetofcuriosity.me

Michael ffolkes (born Brian Davis)

1950s

England

DIMENSIONS

Unknown

MATERIALS & TECHNIQUES

Ink on Paper

CONDITION

Excellent