ABOUT

Pair of tall floor candelabras in Neoclassical Revival style, possibly by American light fixture company Caldwell & Co. The structure of each piece features tall ebonized wood poll, decorated with gilt bronze ornate hoops, on white marble base, resting on gilt bronze claw feet. Each candelabra top has 6 curved arms, made of twist-shaped crystal, encased in acanthus bronze mounts. They are adorned with crystal drop pendants and round spiral twist bobeches. The top finials are tall prismatic crystals above tulip-like element.

Newly wired with dimmer switches and G-type plugs, completed with creamy white candle sleeves. Good condition, minor wear on surface due to natural aging, minor fractures and stains on the marble bases.
